Subject: Funding for CTG interpretation Training

Hello Everyone

Just to update everyone about the CTG bid money which was secured for training within our three networks.

After several conversations and emails regarding the various options about the way the money should be spent and extensive scoping of study days and workshops the following has now been arranged:

Date: Thursday 6th July 2017

Venue: Central Birmingham - TBC

A One Day Course: "CTG Masterclass" with nationally renowned speaker Mr Edwin Chandraharan

We have commissioned a whole course through Baby Lifeline Training Limited. Mr Chandraharan had been booked up until 2018 but after a bit of persuasion he has agreed to do an extra day for us. These study days evaluate exceptionally well by all grades of staff that attend and I can personally vouch for them as I have attended many different Baby Lifeline study days.

The venue has to be confirmed but it will be a central Birmingham location which will mean everyone will be able to travel by public transport if required.

We have commissioned 105 places at £85 each and we envisage that we will divide these places between all of the maternity units that use CTG interpretation within our three networks. The idea would be that staff selected to attend should be practice educators, labour ward/delivery suite co-ordinators and SAS doctors with an understanding that we would like them to become part of a local faculty to look into standardising training and to run workshops. We would also like to encourage a certain number of newly qualified staff to attend to give them an opportunity to have a study day with a nationally renowned speaker.

Please let me know your thoughts.
